Today, the four month long transit of Venus (Shukra) in Libra (Tula) ended as it entered the water sign Scorpio (Vrishchik). The next time when Venus enters Libra for such a long stay (including retrogression) will be from 1st September 2018 to 1st January 2019. A lot of developments, both positive and negative, have happened in past four months.

Scorpio is a sign ruled by Mars and Venus becomes a little lusty and greedy when it transits through this water sign. But, it is a good sign for Shukra and usually beneficial results of such a transit have been observed on all who have a yogakarak Shukra in their horoscopes. As Venus is quite potent these days due to its distance from the Sun, more of its positive effects will be felt during next one month.

Venus will stay in Vrishchik till 30th January 2011, for full 30 days. Its next transit in Scorpio will be from 28th October 2011 to 21st November 2011. During its present transit it will be accompanied by Mercury till 8th January 2011 and will be the sole planet in Scorpio for the rest of its transit in it.

While the automotive sector will gain well from this transit, there will be good boost seen in the Information technology and entertainment business too. For the common man, inflation and taxation problems will increase. The governments across the globe will go on imposing new laws and regulations without giving any respite to the common man.
